I never made any statement oncerning it other than to give my opin on as to the legal effect of the contract o the state auditor and the governor

P. Childs, which was pending before the probate court for the district of Fair Haven, between the executrix and the daughters of the testator by his first wife. By the terms of the will Mr Childs' daughters, three in number, were to receive all their father's real estate in Vermont. His personal estate was to be evenly divided, one-half going to Mrs. Childs and the other half to the three daughters.

The commissioners appointed on Mr. Childs' estate allowed Mrs. Childs' claim for money loaned to her husband, amounting to $15,273.26.
